15 STIPULATION AND ORDER TO CONTINUE TRIAL
 16 (FIRST REQUEST)

17 Defendant, State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, by and through its attorneys
 18 of record, Marissa R. Temple, Esq. of Rogers, Mastrangelo, Carvalho & Mitchell, and Plaintiff,
 19 Harmik Kazanchian, by and through his attorneys of record, Andrew Thomas, Esq. of the Law Offices
 20 of Steven M. Burris, hereby stipulate and agree that the trial in this matter currently scheduled for 21 November 14, 2022 be continued to the Court's next available trial stack in January 2023 or February
 22 2023, pursuant to LR IA 6-1 and LR 26-3.

23 Good cause exists for the requested continuance. The trial in this matter will require a full five
 24 days of trial time. Only two weeks on the current three-week stack are full trial weeks due to the 25 Thanksgiving holiday. Plaintiff's counsel was recently set for a one week trial in Eighth Judicial
 26 District Court with a firm setting of November 14, 2022. Counsel for defense has expert availability
 27 issues throughout the stack. The parties did not recognize this conflict until this week, thereby
 28 necessitating the trial continuance and the filing of the instant stipulation.

*Kazanchian v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, 2:20-cv-00210-KJD-BNW
Stipulation and Order to Continue Trial*

The parties' failure to file the instant request for continuance prior to now was the result of excusable neglect. Defendant's expert was initially thought to be available for several weeks during November and December. However, counsel for Defendant recently learned that her expert is scheduled to travel out of the country for several weeks in November and December, including during the trial stack on which this trial is currently scheduled to be heard. Furthermore, Plaintiff's counsel was recently scheduled for a firm trial in District Court on November 14, 2022, limiting his availability. Defense counsel was just recent made aware of that trial setting. Due to the competing scheduling issues, the parties are unable to find a full week on the current stack for this case to proceed. While the case is ready for trial and the parties are eager to proceed, the parties see no choice but to continue to the next trial stack. Based on the foregoing, the parties respectfully request that the Court grant the parties stipulated request for trial continuance.

Now, therefore, IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED by and between all the parties to this action as follows:

1. That Trial in this action, currently set for November 14, 2022, be continued to Court's next available trial stack in January, 2023 or February, 2023.

SO STIPULATED.

DATED this 26th day of October, 2022.
